

Using Orders schema imported in the last laboratory. Write SQL statements corresponding for the following queries:

1. Return customers name and number for those costumers that have at least one order.
2. Return customers name and number for those costumers that have no orders.
3. Return customers name and number for those costumers that have at least one order.